Let's Start!

Let's take a trip down memory lane!

Learning Outcome

Use expressions about relationships and feelings in a range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Do you have a favorite memory from elementary school? From high school?
- What are the qualities you would like to see in a boyfriend or girlfriend?
- Do you think friendships are important in your life? Why or why not?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about friendships and relationships.
- I can talk about habits in the past.
- I can talk about actions related to relationships and key life events.

Let's Explore!

Sally and Vanessa remember past heartaches and heartbreaks*.

* "Heartache" is the feeling you have when you miss someone dearly or you break up with someone.

 "Heartbreak" is another word for heartache.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally: What's on your mind, V? You look worried.

Vanessa: Don't worry about it. It's just Marco. Our relationship is a little rocky at the moment. We argue all the time. I don't get it. We used to agree on everything!

Sally: Relationships aren't always smooth sailing. I remember when I used to date that guy in high school. He was so sweet at the beginning. He would write me poems and send me flowers. I used to think it was the most romantic thing anyone ever did for me.

Vanessa: What happened? Why did you guys break up in the end?

Sally: He turned out to be a very boring boyfriend! We didn't really have anything in common.

Vanessa: I know the feeling. I used to go out with a guy before I left for culinary school. We would try to find things that we both liked to do, but it became harder and harder. We realized that we were growing apart. He wanted to settle down, but I wasn't ready.

Sally: I remember that boyfriend. You used to really like him!

Vanessa: I did. We tried to get back together, but it didn't work out.

Sally: Well, you should try to patch up things with Marco.

Let's Practice!

What were Vanessa's past relationships like?

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Cross out the wrong words. Write the sentences correctly.

1. We use to agreed in everything.

2. You would wrote me poems and sent me flowers.

3. I use to go in with someone before I left culinary school.

4. We would tried to found things that we both liked to do.

5. We didn't really had something in common.

Let's Practice!

Relationships aren't always smooth sailing. They're hard work!

Instructions: Read the sentences. Write the correct preposition: down/out/apart/back/up.

1. Why did you guys break ____ in the end?
2. He turned ____ to be a very boring boyfriend!
3. We tried to get ____ together, but it didn't work out.
4. We realized that we were growing ____.
5. He wanted to settle____, but I wasn't ready.

Extension Activity

Write a column in a newspaper about relationships.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Imagine you are a journalist writing about relationships.
- Give advice on relationships and friendships, using your experience and memories as examples.
- Write a newspaper column (10-14 lines) about relationships.
- Use phrasal verbs and habits in the past.
- Read your column aloud.

Learning Points

Used to and Would

Would and used to have similar meanings. They are both used to describe something that happened regularly in the past but doesn't happen any longer.

However, there is an important difference between used to and would.

Would is not used unless you know that the time frame is in the past, while used to does not require this.

Read the following example:

We used to visit India. (correct)

However, when would replaces used to, the same example becomes ungrammatical:

We would visit India. (not correct)

We would visit India every summer when we were children. (correct)

Examples:

- I used to go out with a guy before I left for culinary school.
- When we were in high school, Ted would write me poems and send me flowers every week.

Phrasal Verbs

Phrasal verbs consist of a verb and one or more prepositions. They are common, especially in informal spoken English. The meaning of phrasal verbs is often completely different from the meaning of the verb alone.

Phrasal verbs can either be separable or inseparable.

Separable phrasal verbs consist of two parts. They always require an object.

The object of a phrasal verb can go either between the verb and the preposition or after the preposition.

Examples:

I handed in my homework.

I handed my homework in.

If the object of the sentence is a pronoun, it must go between the two parts of the phrasal verb.

Example:

I handed it in.

Learning Points

Some phrasal verbs are inseparable, so the verb must be directly followed by its preposition or adverb. Otherwise, the meaning of the phrasal verb will be incorrect.

Some inseparable phrasal verbs never use an object.

Examples:

- get up = get out of bed
I get up at seven o'clock every morning.

- take off = leave the ground
The plane took off on time.

- look out = beware! be careful!
Look out! That car is going to hit you!

Phrasal Verb	Meaning
to break up	to end a relationship
to turn out	to become clear
to go out with	to be in a relationship with someone to grow apart	to become different
to settle down	to establish a permanent situation
to work out	to have a successful outcome
to patch up	to repair, to fix
to get back together	to reunite after a breakup

Examples:

- Ann: He turned out to be a boring boyfriend. Our relationship wasn't working out.
- Bob: You should patch things up with him.
