Let's Explore!

Sally and Vanessa are making plans for the new year. Will they be able to stick to their resolutions?

* "To stick to" is a phrasal verb. You change the meaning of verbs by using different prepositions, like to or with.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: I can't believe the Christmas holidays are over!
- Sally: I know what you mean. This time of year always makes me want to start new things.
- Vanessa: I don't like to make New Year's resolutions. I can never stick to them for more than a couple of weeks.
- Sally: Come on! What about taking up a new sport? I'm going to join a fitness club. You should come, too.
- Vanessa: Do you know which one you'll go to?
- Sally: There's a new gym right by my office. They offer Pilates, zumba and kickboxing classes. They have a free trial period. I think I'll try everything.
- Vanessa: Don't you think that sounds a bit too intense?
- Sally: It beats staying at home and surfing the web all night! You should spend less time on the computer.
- Vanessa: It's hard to keep in touch with people without it. I rely on social media to get online buzz about the restaurant.
- Sally: Can you remember the last time you spent a day without looking at a screen? Physical activities will do you good. Trust me.

Questions with Sentences / Asking for Clarification

You ask for clarification when you want more details of what the other person is talking about.

We often ask for clarification when we are not clear on what the other person is referring to. We ask the other person to be more specific by giving more information.

You can use questions with sentences to ask for clarification. You ask a question including a sentence within the question, like Don't you think it sounds a bit too intense?

Questions with sentences are called embedded questions.

You can use embedded questions like Can you tell me ... ? or Do you know if/which/what ... ? to ask for clarification. Look at the chart below for an explanation on how to make embedded questions.

Main Question	Embedded Question
Do you know ...	what/where/when/who/ ... ?
Do you remember ...	what/where/when/who/ ... ?
Can you tell me ...	what/where/when/who/ ... ?
Could you tell me ...	what/where/when/who/ ... ?

Examples:

- Do you know which fitness club you'll go to? (question with sentence)
- Don't you think it sounds a bit too intense? (asking for clarification)

Talking About Future Actions

You can use two different tenses to talk about the future.

- When you talk about things that are not decided or when you make a decision at the moment of speaking for the future, you use the modal will.
- When you ask about intentions, you use going to.

Structure	Example
Will	I think I'll try everything.
Going to	I'm going to join a fitness club.
